

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a process for the preparation of cephalixin with the aid of a penicillin amidase immobilized on a crosslinked hydrophilic copolymer which has binding activity for ligands having nucleophilic groups and is in bead form.